

Joy, Fear, and the Practice of Antifascism in Czech Postsocialism (1990–2001)

Thursday 4 June 2026, 17:30, room P209

Faculty of Arts, Charles University, nám. Jana Palacha 1/2; 116 38 Praha 1, Czech Republic

Ondřej Daniel reconstructs how antifascism in the Czech 1990s was made actionable through emotions.

The talk is jointly organized by the Platform for Cultural History, Department of History Education and History in the Public Sphere of the Institute of History, the Centre for the Study of Popular Culture and the Archive of Czech and Slovak Subcultures.

Everyone coming in peace is welcome. The talk will NOT be recorded and will NOT be transmitted online. The language is English/Czech. Activity within the framework of the Wissenschaft gegen Faschismus mobilization week.